Atlantic Electropoise: Gentlemen—for the past five years my wife has been a sufferer from dyspepda. So completely did the disease make a wrock of her former self that life was almost despaired of. Her nervous system was almost despaired of. Her nervous system was almost entirely destroyed, and the aligntest noise would throw her into a nervous space, which would last for hours. Medical shift failed to bring any relief.

Through the recommendation of an eminent divine we were induced to try the Electropoise. After a persistent use of the instrument, the effect has been wonderful. For nervous system has

has been wonderful. For nervous system has been restored to its almost nermal condition; her digestion is wonderfully improved; she is rapidly digostion is wonderisity imprevee; and is robusty gaining in Eash; and, upon the whole, is making a rapid recovery, which speaks volumes for the wonderful carative sowers of the Electropoise, as her case was considered hootles. If any are receptual on the subject, let them try the Electropoise, and its wonderful powers will quickly dispeliall doubt. Yours tails. W. M. PROPET.

She Tired of Convent Life. At half-post four c'eleck Thursday even-og a young girl running along the top of he high stone wall at the west end of the nclosure surrounding the Convent of the Good Shepherd in St. Louis attracted attenion. The building and grounds of this inthution eccupy an entire block, bounded y Pine, Chesant, Saventsenth and Eightrenth streets. The girl was on top of the wall on the Eighteenth street side. Loud and excited voices were heard to life the bign was, and it was soon apparent to not per a the errest that the girt was trying to ecope from the institution, and that the wrest crawd gathered on the street and shanted to the gift to jump. She fled clorg he entirellength of the wail, and then, after a roment's h-situation, can back. At this has the growd in the street increased, and o amployees of two factories just scroce as a relice sed work and watched the progrees of the chase. There was a continuous anousing of words of encouragement to the who had the sympsthy of the two thou a d or more speciators.

Those on the outside could not, of course, see what was going on inside the walls, but they could tell by the girl's movements that the was endeavoring to clude pursuers. She paused, as if gathering herself for a jamp from the top of the 12 foot wall, but while she was hesitating another face appeared over the wall and its owner clutched at the dress of the would-be runsway. Divining he intention of the newcomer, the girl tried o swing herself down from the top of the zall, but her clothing caught and she was ensteaded outside the wall. A desparate struggle then began between the girl and her pursuer, who was standing on a ladder trying to draw her back over the wall. The siri was drawn up to the top of the wall, but broke loose and pushed the ladder on which the person inside was standing from the wall, throwing it to the ground. But there were others on the incide, both nuns and inmates, and other ladders were put up and more persons clambered up to catch the runaway, who had now thrown herself again from the wall, but her dress caught again and she again dangled in the air.

The whole convent was now slarmed, and from the windows on the west side pro ruded the heads and shoulders of the good disters, who watched the struggle with nor-ror and indignation depicted on their coun-tenance. Then came a cry, "What if she drops? Run outside, somebody, quick, and catch her and bring her in." It was no sconer said than done. The large gate at the corner of the grounds on Eghth-een's street opened, and one of the and a man and a boy, rushed out and ran down the sidewalk and stood directly under the figure which was swinging along the The girl endeavored to escape from the pursuers, who were multiplying and holding on to her clothing. All the time the crowd of men and boys, which was agement to the one trying to escape, but none offered to assist her. Finally, one of the pureners leaved over the wall, and, Steam Flooring & Planing Mill supported by the two sisters, caught the girl sround the body and tried to life her up. Her clothing was badly torn in the strongle, and at last they succeeded in pulling her inside. A reporter who had within the strong of t essed the entire affair sought admission, but was not allowed to see the Mother Superior or the girl, or give him any informaion. A later call at the convent brought out the information that the girl who had tried to escape was a noting of Mrs. R. C. Karana, wife of R. O. Karena, the millionaire tend of President Harrison, and the asso-ata of Steve Etains. The only name nown for the girl at the convent was On Mrs. Karena, who is a liberal pat lestitution, had token the St. Louis from Atkansas nearly a year ago and placed her in the convent. the is said to be very beautiful, but way-and has given the Sisters of the Good Shep-terd a good deal of trouble. MERRY NOTES WHILE DYING .- A dispatch from London says: The secret of the many postponements of Gilbert's new opatette, "The Mountebanks," to be produced at the Lyric Theatre, is now out, and a sad secret it is. Alfred Collier, whose real name was Kalieher, died on Monday evening. He was dying long before he achieved his share of the work. The story was still incomplete yeaterday. On Monday night Collier wrote his last note of music and died. To make merry music in the face of death was the ask he had set for himself. We will not so w how well be has accomplished it until work was 'Dorothy.' He was not a great composer, but was a fertile composer of gental, flowing melody. He was most succossful to sentimental writing, but had a etrong velo of bumor, and some of his buff, songs are full of genuice fun. He was a general favorite.
